2019 Victorious Skin Released

Riot recently released this year's Victorious skin for players ranked Gold or above—Victorious Aatrox! Players ranked Gold or higher in more than one ranked queue will also obtain a special chroma.

TFT players above Gold will also gain a bonus emote, which changes appearance based on rank. There's also more coming!

Rise of the Elements

By now, you probably have heard of Riot's goals for this next preseason, and how dramatically the map will change. You might not have heard about these changes, though:

- * Solo lanes will be having EXP buffs, while the duo lane will be having EXP nerfs. ADC mains, beware!
- * Presence of Mind is getting its Ult CDR removed, since the Cloud Drake buff is now going to be Ult CDR.
- * Energized proc damage now stacks, rather than choosing the strongest item. Furthermore, all Energized damage is now standardized at 60-80, based on level.
- * Both Conqueror and Aftershock are getting significantly nerfed, since they were way too strong anyways.

All these changes are currently on the PBE, and subject to change. We'll see what more Riot has for us later.

Festival of the Lost

Destiny 2's Halloween event is coming up soon, called Festival of the Lost. Participate in this event beginning October 29 to gain exclusive reskins, gear, and triumphs.

The event will take place on Mercury, and will consist of 15-minute quests which drop different kinds of tokens. These tokens can be turned into an NPC in the Tower for rewards.

You have to be 770 Power minimum to participate in this event. Find out more on the official Bungie website:

The goose has collected all the dragonballs

the dragon is summoned
"What is your desire"

the goose honks

"...as you wish"
the dragon disappears

nothing noticeable has changed and that makes you nervous
